Within this context, foreigners, who hold work permit, are accepted as supporters in family residence permits on condition that they fulfill the conditions.

11. Family members of migrant workers may apply to Provincial/Sub-Provincial Migration Directorates for receiving residence permit (family residence permit) that suits the purpose of their stay within the period specified (before the visa terminates) as soon as they arrive our country with the visa required for that purpose.

The Ombudsman Institution started to receive complaint applications as of 29 March 2013. Until today, no application has been made with the claim that rights of migrant workers and their families have been violated. Thus, no investigation and research has been carried out regarding this issue. As a result, no personnel or financial resource have been allocated on this count.

40. The Law on Foreigners and International Protection was translated into 10 different languages. DGMM web page was translated into English to ensure the access of migrants to the necessary information. Translation into other languages: Since 2014, along with Turkish and English, our web page was launched in 4 different languages including German and French, and content translations still continue. Moreover, translation studies in 7 other languages (Italian, Spanish, Russian, Greek, Bulgarian, Arabic and Persian) continue. Turkish languages courses are given in 3 pilot provinces (Kayseri, Konya and Afyonkarahisar) in order to better harmonize the foreigners residing in Turkey with the society. It is envisaged that the courses will be expanded to include all provinces in 2015, if required. An article introducing the Migration Management and the Law was published recently in Skyline Magazine of Turkish Airlines. Thus, information on the institution and the Law reached approximately 50 million people.

157. According to article 62 entitled “Turkish citizens working abroad” of the Constitution, it is indicated that the State shall take the necessary measures to ensure family unity, the education of the children, the cultural needs, and the social security of Turkish citizens working abroad and to safeguard their ties with the home country and to help them on their return home.

158. By this way, the protection of rights of Turkish citizens working or living abroad is dedicated as a State’s duty. In this context, several institutions are established to provide services for Turkish citizens or people with Turkish origins abroad.

159. Turkey has also concluded bilateral Labour Force Agreements with 12 countries on the employment of Turkish citizens with several countries. All these agreements contain provisions concerning the selection, travelling and employment conditions to be met and procedures to be followed for the employment of Turkish citizens in the countries concerned.

160. According to these social security agreements and labour force agreement, period of insurance and work completed with respect to the national legislation of contracting parties, can be aggregated for the purpose of benefiting from both countries’ social security’s systems on condition that such period do not overlap.

- Multilateral conventions in which Turkey takes part secure the equal treatment of Turkish citizens abroad and improve and encourage human rights and fundamental rights and freedom for all regardless of race, sex, language or religion. Among them it can be enumerated ‘European Convention on the Legal Status of Migrant Workers’, International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination, European council Social Charter and European Council Social Charter Revised, etc.
- The Presidency for Turks Abroad and Related Communities has been established in 2010 for conducting studies about our citizens living abroad and developing solutions to their problems. The Presidency works in cooperation with institutions of related countries and nongovernmental organizations. Many activities are conducted in this framework and the Presidency provides also financial support to the NGOs established abroad.

They organise also information meetings on a regular basis and inform them to increase their participation to the social life of the host country.

162. The Presidency for Turks Abroad and Related Communities supports projects about ensuring familial integrity. Following projects have been realized for migrant families:

- Under “Family Education and Consultancy Centre” Project of a foundation in Vienna (Austria), consultancy services in subjects of health, education, child, family, marriage, psychology and invalid citizens by expert educators and education seminars were held to increase social cultural and economic development of Turkish community and to support active participation.
- Under “The Project of Education Support to Turkish Families and Their Children Living in Multilingual Environment” in Belgium, school, mother tongue, importance of education and role of the family, families’ lack of information on the job selection were elaborated.

163. With those projects, it is aimed that people who will emigrate from Turkey to other countries are provided with accurate information about the life in these countries and misleading propaganda is averted.

Article 67

35. Please update and disaggregate the information from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs web page, which refers to three million Turkish migrants who returned to Turkey.¹ Please also provide updated information on the efforts undertaken to facilitate the safe and sustainable return of Turkish migrant workers and members of their families and their reintegration into the economic and social life of the State party.

164. Article 67 of the Agreement deals with the issue of the return in an orderly manner of regular and irregular migrant workers and their families.

165. The Embassies or the Consulates General of the Republic of Turkey cooperate with the authorities of the countries involved to carry out the procedures for the return of irregular Turkish migrant workers and their families. (Identity card, preparation of travel document and the determination of the exhaustion of national law and other proceedings...)

166. On the other hand, the return of regular Turkish migrant workers and their families are completely on voluntary basis. Turkey uses all the means provided by international law to harmonize the Turkish people living abroad with the societies they live in, enjoy equal rights and encourages them to take the citizenship of the country of their residence. The dual citizenship is the preferred choice for Turkish people living abroad. If this is not allowed, the second choice is to obtain the citizenship of the country of residence, by leaving the Turkish citizenship with permission.

167. The persons who leave the Turkish citizenship are granted a special status to enable them to preserve their ties with Turkey and benefit from the rights equally with the Turkish nationals. Those who have this status do not have the right to vote and to be elected, to work as civil servants, to import vehicles and household goods with exemption and are not

¹ “Turkish community living abroad amounts to more than 5 million people, around 4 million of which live in Western European countries, 300.000 in Northern America, 200.000 in the Middle East and 150.000 in Australia. This number increases to 8 million when 3 million Turkish migrants who returned Turkey are taken into account”. obliged to do military service. Apart from these, their economic and social rights are the same with the rights of Turkish nationals.

168. Regular Turkish migrant workers and their families residing outside of Turkey at least 24 months have the right to import their private motor and motorless vehicles, used household goods, as well as capital goods, technical materials and office and shop supplies due to office relocation to Turkey. Private motor vehicles includes cars and their trailers and caravans; motorbikes, private airplanes and other entertainment and sports vehicles.

169. Returning Turkish citizens are generally Turkish migrant workers who are out of the labour market and their family members. After returning to Turkey, it is difficult for them to find employment. This situation causes them loss of income and leave them without social insurance coverage. Since 1978, provided that they have paid the minimum insurance premium payments, Turkey gives Turkish nationals who return to Turkey, old age, widow's and orphan's pensions. These persons also must have fulfilled the necessary conditions as Turkish citizens. Thus, migrant workers and their family members receive both pension and covered by health insurance. This policy is implemented rare to find in the world.

170. Before or upon their return to the country, the children of migrant workers are provided with a document indicating the equality of their educational level and they are placed in schools accordingly in their places of residence.

171. Turkish universities allocate a limited number of quota for the children of the Turkish migrant workers.

172. Significant problems are not encountered in the social and cultural adaptation of Turkish migrant workers and their family members and therefore specific projects are not prepared for this purpose. This may be explained as follows:

173. Embassies and consulates general and non-governmental organizations founded by Turkish immigrants are in close contact in countries where Turkish immigrant workers and family members live. The services rendered by Religious Affairs, Education, Labour and Social Security counsellors; and by teachers and religious functionaries affiliated with them; support and sponsorships of Culture and Tourism counsellors to the activities for the promotion of Turkish culture have always kept the relations of the Turkish community abroad with Turkey and Turkish culture warm. The Ministry of Family and Social Policies and the Administration for Turks Abroad and Related Communities also support these services.

174. Turkish migrant workers and their family members have preserved their close ties with their relatives in Turkey. Each year they create massive movements especially between Europe and Turkey by airway and highway to visit their homeland.

175. Finally, the ratings of televisions, newspapers and other press organs that broadcast for Turkish immigrant workers and their family members who live abroad are very high. Local media of the countries where Turkish citizens also act supportively for the preservation of cultural and social bonds.

176. The main issue to be considered here is how to improve the means so that the above mentioned efforts should not create obstacles for the adaptation Turkish nationals to the countries of their residence.
